Capt. Adrian Gallati joins Swiss Aviation Consulting®

Hünenberg/Zug, Switzerland, 17 May 2016 – Swiss Aviation Consulting® announces that Capt. Adrian Gallati joined the group in March 2016. Adrian Gallati has been appointed Surveyor / Operations Auditor for the group's aircraft asset management and advisory divisions. Furthermore, he will support Swiss Aviation Consulting's Part NCC offerings.

Dr. Daniel Lütolf, Managing Director and Chairman says: "Adrian Gallati is a key addition to the group. His training as a captain and TRI, combined with his knowledge of aviation operation and management, is essential in his role as surveyor as well as for our Part-NCC compliance support service which has met great demand."

Adrian Gallati's aviation career began as a First Officer on the Bombardier fleet at Austrian Airlines in 2004. In parallel to his graduation as BSc in Aviation Operation & Management he worked as a First Officer and Flight Safety & Security Manager for SkyWork Airlines in Bern. At Skywork Airlines he quickly became a Captain on the Q400. In addition he expanded his knowledge in top-level management advisory by helping the operator acquire new financial investors and manage its fleet, ensuring the safety of operations at the same time. In 2014 he joined easyJet Switzerland in Geneva and Basel for two years. On a part-time basis he consulted ATO's in Lausanne and family offices with private jets in the Middle East. Adrian has worked as freelance surveyor for Swiss Aviation Consulting since 2015 and has now joined the group on a permanent basis. Adrian is fluent in German, English, French and Italian.
